Welcome

There is an added significance to this year's graduation ceremonies, with the University of Waikato marking its 50th anniversary in 2014.

At our first graduation ceremony in 1967 there were just 19 graduates. Now we congratulate more than 3,000 students each year.

While the numbers have changed, this is still an unfailingly inspiring day. I am privileged to again be included on what is an important milestone in your lives. Today you join the growing list of graduates of this university knowing that you possess a world-class degree and the skills necessary to succeed in any situation, anywhere in the world.

We congratulate you in the knowledge that 2014 will forever remain a special year for both you and the University of Waikato.

Rt Hon Jim Bolger ONZ
Chancellor
University of Waikato

Today marks an important milestone in the lives of our graduands and their family and friends. It is the culmination of all the hard work and long hours our graduands have put in to their studies.

Today also marks the beginning of the next stage of their lives where our students get to put into practice everything they have learned. It is undoubtedly an exciting time. And while our graduates can be found far and wide across the world, they always remain part of the University of Waikato family. That University family reaches its own significant achievement this year, celebrating its 50th anniversary.

So we celebrate both individually and collectively today and just like any parents, the University of Waikato is proud of the achievements of our graduates.

Professor Roy Crawford
Vice-Chancellor
University of Waikato

Fanfare

The Processional Fanfare for brass quintet and percussion was written by Associate Professor Martin Lodge from the University of Waikato's Conservatorium of Music.

It was written to mark the University of Waikato's 50th anniversary being celebrated throughout 2014. The work is original except for a snippet of the popular graduation song Gaudeamus Igitur (see page 79), inserted by Associate Professor Lodge to acknowledge the great academic tradition of universities in the western world.

The Processional Fanfare is played as the University staff ceremonially enter the hall and take the stage for graduation and it is anticipated that the new fanfare will be played at University of Waikato graduation ceremonies from now on.

Pou Whenua

The ceremonial carved Māori mace being used in today's graduation ceremony represents the strong links between the University and Māori.

In 1965, just a year after the University of Waikato was established, Kīngitanga head Koroki invited founding University of Waikato Chancellor and Hamilton Mayor Denis Rogers, along with 20 University of Waikato graduates, to Tūrangawaewae Marae in Ngaruawahia.

There he presented the fledgling institution with the carved taonga to be used as ceremonial mace. The piece was carved by master carver Piri Poutapu, who established a carving school at Tūrangawaewae in 1932, and when not being used, it sits in pride of place at the head of the University Council chamber.

A Brief History of the University

The University of Waikato had its genesis in 1956 when a small group of visionary individuals began working towards founding a university for the people of the South Auckland region.

A college, a sub-branch of Auckland University, was established in 1959 and in 1965, after opening its doors in 1964, the University of Waikato was officially opened by the then Governor-General, Sir Bernard Fergusson (later Lord Ballantrae).

From modest beginnings, on what was largely farmland and with a handful of temporary buildings and few staff, the University of Waikato now has a student population of more than 12,000, with nearly 4,000 graduating each year.

In 2014, as the University celebrates its 50th anniversary, there are more than 1,500 academic and professional staff and in the next two years its contribution to the economy is expected to reach the $1 billion mark.

The University is recognised for its strong research and teaching and has forged productive international links with more than 110 universities.

THE CAMPUS

Our Hamilton campus, with grounds covering 65 hectares, continues to be a source of community pride. The grounds include sports fields, walkways, three lakes, extensive gardens and more than 6,000 trees.

At the end of 2011, we opened the new $30 million Student Centre which houses the library, computers, meeting and relaxation spaces. It has a 5 Green Star rating from the New Zealand Green Building Council, recognising the environmental and sustainable features of the building's design. The conception and completion of the Student Centre is a further demonstration of our commitment to the delivery of a world-class education while providing our students with a dynamic student experience.

This will be enhanced with the building in 2014 and 2015 of a Law and Management building.

The University of Waikato has a campus at Tauranga and a strong relationship with the Bay of Plenty Polytechnic, Te Whare Wānanga o Awanuiārangī and Waiariki Polytechnic.

Our Vision

The University of Waikato Vision is to offer:

- » Excellence – to provide world-class teaching and research.
- » Distinctiveness – to have a unique place in tertiary education.
- » International connectedness – to be benchmarked against the best.

To achieve this we invest in the best people in every role, the best facilities and the best systems and structures which allow us to operate a financial model that is sustainable.

Our Commitment

The University of Waikato is committed to creating and building knowledge for the future. We deliver a world-class education and research portfolio within a dynamic and distinctive university environment with strong international connections.

The University of Waikato/Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato plays an essential leadership role in the prosperity of our region and our country.

We are a New Zealand institution that looks at the world from a New Zealand perspective. We sit at the heart of a community of strong regional partnerships and take pride in the extent to which we reflect and serve the strengths and interests of our region.

We are also an international university. We consciously measure our performance against internationally established criteria, and our teachers, researchers and students inspire, and are inspired by, an international community of scholars.

We are committed to the recruitment and retention of world-class staff who excel at teaching, research and management in areas that are of particular strategic value to New Zealand. We pursue a research and research-management strategy that supports our country's nation-building policies and promises a generous return in terms of our nation's identity and the wealth and wellbeing of New Zealanders.

We adhere to the concept of a university education that is, by definition, research-led. Through sustained research intensity and the attraction of high levels of external research funding from public sector and industry sources, we aim to maintain a highly competitive research profile.

We are committed to meaningful partnerships under the Treaty of Waitangi and to providing leadership in research, scholarship and education relevant to the needs and aspirations of iwi and Māori communities.

We have developed, or are in the process of developing, world-class research platforms that take us through the research pipeline from discovery to application and commercialisation. Sustainability in all its forms – environmental, economic, social and cultural – is a strong emerging theme in many of these research platforms.

By its nature, sustainability is future-focused and rooted in new ways of thinking and new ways of tackling old problems. The University of Waikato is proud to lay claim to leading the way to a sustainable future.

World Rankings

THE Top 50 universities under 50 years old

The University of Waikato is ranked in the top 50 universities under 50 years old by the influential UK-based Times Higher Education.

Update rankings were released in June 2013, placing the University of Waikato at 46th in the world – up from 58th in 2012. The list is an offshoot of the Times Higher Education's (THE) World University Rankings and used the same indicators for judging including research, citations and teaching.

University of Waikato in top 2% of world's universities

The University of Waikato is ranked in the top 2% of universities in the world by the influential UK-based Times Higher Education organisation.

This places the University of Waikato in the top 2% of the 17,000 universities in the world. The rankings are based on teaching, research, citations, industry outcomes and innovation and international outlook.

Five subject areas ranked in top 150 worldwide

Five subject areas taught at the University of Waikato have been assessed as being among the top 150 worldwide, with one – Education – ranked 46th in the world.

The other four, all ranked from 101-150, are Modern Languages, Economics and Econometrics, Law and Computer Science and Info Systems.

The QS Subject Rankings, released in February 2014, assessed nearly 800 universities around the world on the quality of 30 different subject areas.

The QS rankings are generally considered among the most influential of university ranking systems and are based on academic and employer surveys, research citations for each subject area, the ratio of students to staff and the number of international students and staff at the university.

Ceremonial Traditions

Elements of university graduation ceremonies have evolved from the 12th century when the first universities emerged in Europe.

The organisation of medieval universities was modelled on the established institutions of the day – the church, the monastery and the guild.

Latin was the language used by medieval scholars, and it is from Latin that the words 'university' and 'degree' are derived. The Latin term universitas means a guild or union, and universities started as a scholastic guild – a self-constituted community of teachers and scholars.

The word graduate comes from the Latin word gradus, which means step. Admission to study a bachelors degree was the first step taken towards completing a university education. The second step was to become a 'master'. Masters were Master of Arts graduates whose degrees licensed them to teach. The Chancellor, an officer of the cathedral, originally granted teaching licences.

CEREMONIAL ROBES AND ACADEMIC DRESS

In the Middle Ages the corporate existence of universities was recognised and sanctioned by civil or ecclesiastical authority. The regalia worn by graduates and university staff today reflect this mix of medieval governance. Robes worn by the Chancellor resemble those worn by the Lord Chancellor of England. Graduates and academic staff wear gowns similar to the dress of medieval clergy. Hoods are also fashioned on an everyday medieval garment, although the coloured lining was a later addition to indicate the wearer's university and degree.
